Macnamara
FIELD NATURALISTS' CLUB

Promoting the appreciation, understanding, and preservation of nature in the Ottawa Valley

Welcome, <<First Name>>

MEETING
October 6, 2021
7:00 p.m.

Zoom in for an update on the Canada Jay

Dan Strickland, our October speaker, is recognized as the leading authority on Canada Jays and, in 2018, was the person most responsible for persuading the American Ornithological Society to formally restore "Canada Jay" as the bird's official name. Canada still doesn't have a "national bird" but many birders would give top marks to this hardy, amicable bird epitomizing the Canadian identity. Read more.

REMINDER: Our club meetings are now the first Wednesday of each month and begin at 7 p.m.

SIGHTINGS: Be sure to send your observations to John Lawrence's new email: johndrlawrence8@gmail.com

MACNAMARA TRAIL MAINTENANCE

Haul, dump and spread — repeat!

One of the woodchip piles awaiting human touch

The hard-working good-natured crew of volunteers who hauled, dumped and spread wood chips spent a good part of their day on the Macnamara Trail.

Julian and Béatrice Romeskie, who oversee the maintenance of the trail, have nothing but praise for their helpers in the herculean effort.
