✨ Michael Runtz's Retirement Celebration ✨

Carleton University is celebrating Michael's career and you are invited to join!

📆 Thursday November 13, 2025 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.
📍 Zoom, see link below.

Join Carleton's Department of Biology to celebrate the remarkable career of Michael Runtz, Associate Professor, and one of Canada's most respected naturalists, educators, passionate ambassadors of the natural world - and of course, our President!

For more than four decades, Professor Runtz has inspired tens of thousands of students, colleagues, and community members with his unwavering enthusiasm for the outdoors. An award-winning educator, accomplished wildlife photographer, renowned communicator, and author, he has left an indelible mark on the Carleton Science community and on generations of learners.

His popular Natural History course welcomed over 60,000 students, making it the most popular course of its kind in Canada. Beyond the classroom, Professor Runtz's contributions as a speaker, television and radio guest, and author of 15 natural history books have brought Canada's wildlife into the homes of people across the country. He is also a co-founder of the Ontario Field Ornithologists: an organization that aims to foster and increase the appreciation, knowledge, and conservation of Ontario's birds.
